“ Listen here FRESH FADE,

Remember that time we snuck out went to the store at Woodlake apartments early in the morning before we got taken to school. Y'all were at Gainesville High, we were at another school and we bought all of that candy for school. Boy, we thought we were rich forever.. I also remember those cheese fights that we had in the house. We didn't come from money so we used that cheap, non-melting cheese as fake targets, they sure stuck to those wooden walls.. This is one of the hardest flights Cass and I will have to make. However, I know you are good. We will make sure that you are represented with the utmost respect.

Give a hug and shout out to the TripleOG, Grandma.

*Love,
'Rhonda*

“ I believe the year was 1994. We moved to woodlake apts in Gainesville ga. The super soaker water gun was the biggest toy out then. I remember outside playing and I squirted this lil guy with my water gun and started to laugh. He looked at me and started laughing. Before I could fill me gun up again Brandon comes out his house with a water gun twice the size of mine and got me back good. It was then that I started a family like relationship with his entire family. Brandon you will be missed here on earth. Rest pain free lil bro.

“ Cuz, I remember when we were younger I'd always try to run and play with you guys. As we've grown older, you constantly reached out to check on my family and I and I appreciate that. I hate that there was missed opportunities of spending time together, but I cherish every moment we had together because it either taught me something or reminded me what's important in life. I miss you and I love you cuz!
